

2010 HAIKU YEAR-IN-REVIEW

WINTER

I thought I would die.
Tears, bumps, moves, hearts, sensations
Anguish came to me.

SPRING

petroleum wind
benzene blends with oyster brine
petrol films our skin

FALL

Under purple shirts
our lungs grow and shrink in time.
A light flickers there.

SUMMER

floating the afternoon
on this raft
still unemployed

