

2011 Haiku Year-in-Review

WINTER

How tall was the wave that came to the door and knocked a hole in the sun?

SPRING

We may not know what we want, but when is easy to say. Yesterday.

FALL

The earth speaks in tongues, translates red to black ash:
Pentecostal fires.

SUMMER

