

Evanescence

...A red dress on the stone floor, the skin of a blood orange in his hand, she's finishing what's left of apricot wine.
You'll notice there's no rain-pipe on the roof, no canopy over the entrance: the lagoon can enter the building whenever it wants to.