(Hiding) Names

not garlic breath not circuit end not a blue nuance story reeking of fish Startled to say – wind – ‘don’t ask me’ stuffed.
A plucked
yes a full sheet slice your tongue into streams not hearing song which never hit ‘I don’t want to clear’ air.

my surname as thin accent first fat slug of mouth river collect Dàsuàn I did not sandpaper smooth da jie any meaning which you can’t pronounce pebble grab the cheekgrain no so I took my name in mouth. Hid porous blockage to climb through a paper-lean shield no behind bathroom little life no wire door. If mangled, scraping your wall

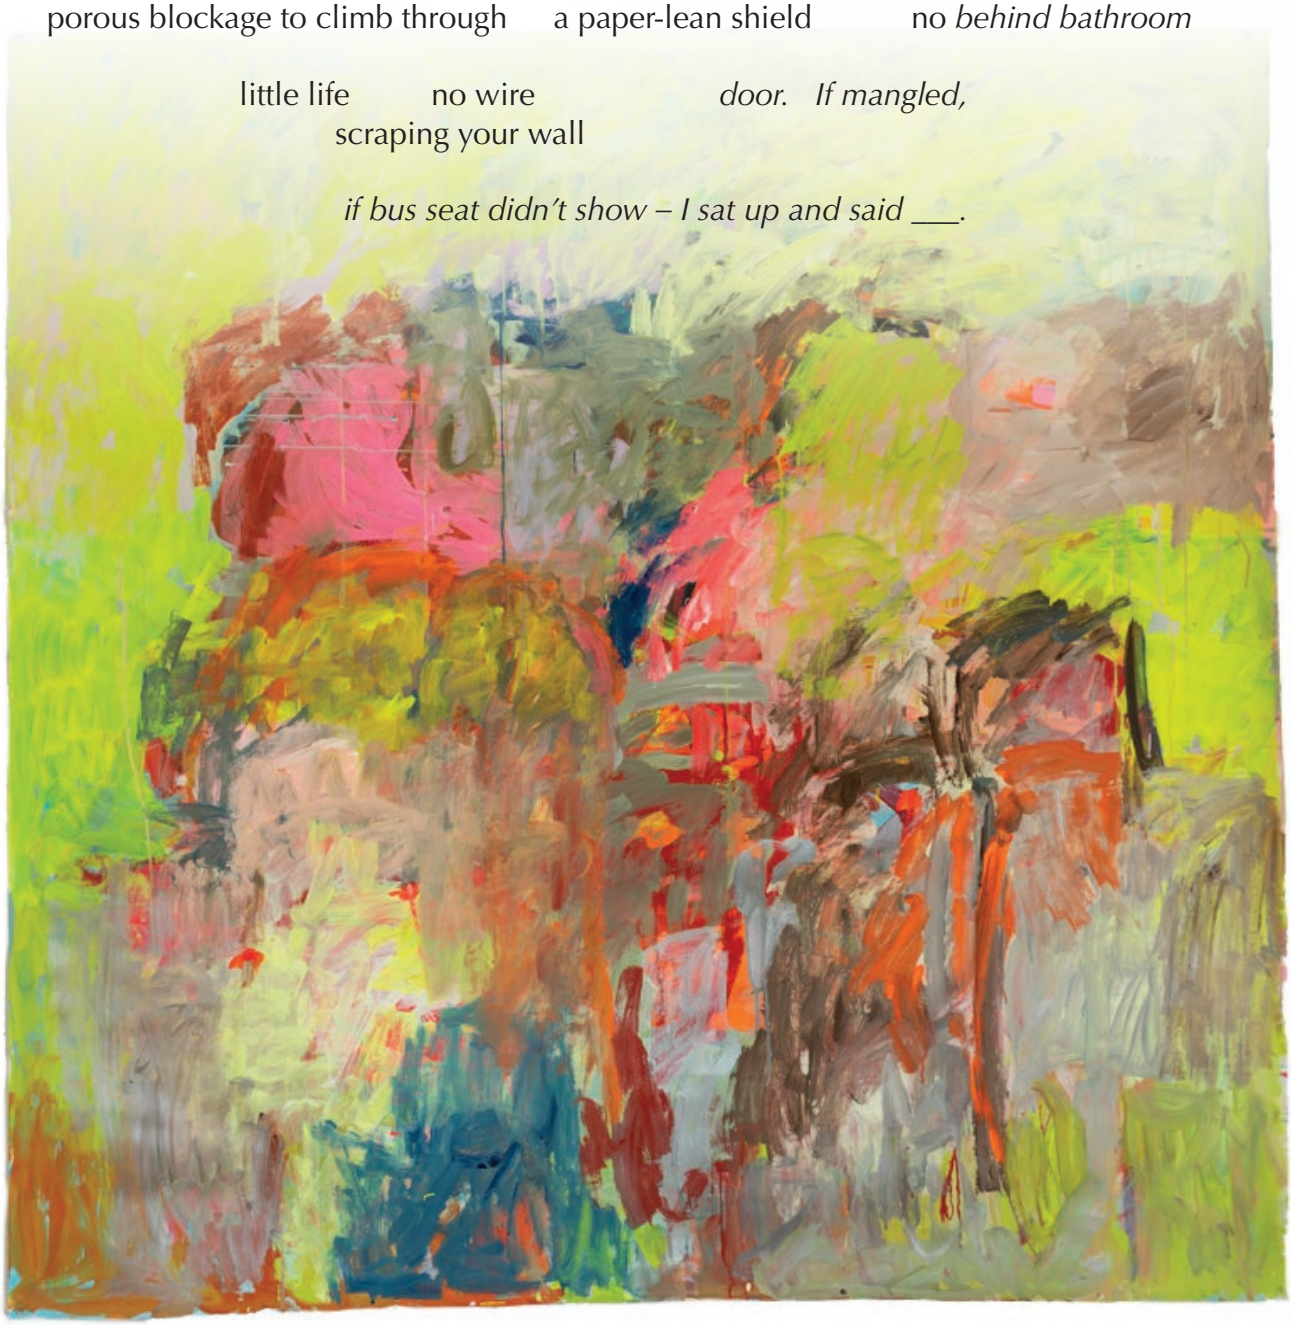
if bus seat didn’t show – I sat up and said ___.



11.23.18
Broadsided Press
www.broadsidedpress.org

Poet Ching-In Chen is author of The Heart's Traffic and recombinant, winner of the 2018 Lambda Literary Award for Transgender Poetry.
Artist Barbara Cohen has received a Pollock-Krasner grant, a Blanche E Colman Award and has published nine books of her paintings.