putting literature and art on the streets

The Switcheroo: Call for Ekphrastic Submissions

"Ouroboros," Janice Redman

Every month at Broadsided, artists respond to literature the editors have selected. Once a year, we turn the tables.

Send us writing in response to "Ouroboros" a sculpture by artist Janice Redman.

Your response need not be literal—our hope is that the art and writing will, together, work to create a greater whole.

Sculptur Janice Redman lives in Truro. Born in England, she was twice a fellow at the Fine Arts Work Center in Provincetown, and her work is in the permanent collections of The DeCordova Museum and Sculpture Park the Eli and Edythe Broad Art Museum. She is represented by Clark Gallery in Lincoln, Massachusetts.

About Broadsided Press

Founded in 2005, Broadsided publishes an original visual/literary collaboration every month. Writing is chosen through open submissions. Artists allied with Broadsided respond visually. The resulting letter-sized pdf is designed to be downloaded and printed by anyone with a computer and printer. "Vectors" around the globe post Broadsided locally. We want to help you put words and art on your streets.
